WARDENS REPORT

Much has happened since the last magazine; Vicar David has moved to pastures new and we have started the process of looking to obtain a new vicar. The process is, in my opinion, far too long but we must work with the Diocese to appoint the right person for the area.

Firstly, I would like to thank everyone for the send-off given to David and family, I know that David was touched by both the attendance at his last service, the leaving party and particularly by the Antique Bookmark he received as part of his leaving present.

The start of the journey to a new vicar commenced with the PCCs of both Immanuel and St Francis meeting with the Archdeacon and subsequently holding individual meetings, at which they have both voted we become a United Benefice, moving from the loose Plurality arrangement. This means that we each retain our own PCC and funds. but a new vicar will be appointed to a United Benefice, which is much more attractive to potential applicants.

Parish Representatives has been appointed, Margaret Duckworth and myself for Immanuel, Pat Rushton and Andy Hunt for St Francis. Once the Diocese produces a short list the representatives will be involved in 'interviewing' applicants.

One matter that we have been asked to do by the Rural Dean is to move the service start time to 9:15am on Sundays to make it easier to obtain covering clergy. This commences on the 3rd of December, the First Sunday of Advent. St Francis will start at 10:45.

In the meanwhile, everything continues! Remembrance Services will be held on the 11th of November at the Recreation Ground Memorial and Café Church on the 12th which will commence at 10am and move down to the War Memorial at Church in time to conduct a service and silence. Please see elsewhere in the magazine for a full list of upcoming events/services.

Another thanks goes out to those who cleaned the war memorial, the path and subsequently re-pointed the path. It is great to see jobs which require doing being crossed off the list in church, but there are still several which need people to help with, a photo of which is at the end of my report.

The proposed Narthex has been granted a faculty by the relevant authorities and we have gone out to tender and await responses as I write. I would love to be in a position whereby it is completed in time for the new Vicar

The monthly prize draw subscriptions are once again due and would remind people that there are additional numbers available, £12 per number for the year and a chance to win £50 each month.

The Sermon - How Long, O Lord?

How do we respond to the evil that was unleashed by Hamas terrorists on people in Israel? Each subsequent day brings more and more distressing details of hundreds of victims murdered and others taken captive and held hostage.

At the same time the devastating impact of the atrocity on the victims' families is repeatedly brought home to us in the news.

And having sown the wind, the terrorists must have known that the people of Gaza would reap the whirlwind of Israel's inevitable response; but they don't seem to care about that.

And so, alongside the suffering caused by the initial attack, we now also have numerous heart-breaking stories of the awful plight of the residents of Gaza as the crisis continues.

How do we respond?

There's a simple prayer that appears on several occasions in the Bible, and especially in the Psalms: "How long, O Lord?" (for example, see Psalms 6:3; 13:1-2; 79:5)

It's a prayer that King David seemed to pray whenever he went through a time of personal trial, but there's no reason why we shouldn't pray it when the world is going through an awful episode like recent days.

The beauty of the psalm is that in just a few words it expresses both anguish and hope.

As we are confronted with compelling evidence that this world is not as it should be, the prayer encourages us to take our feelings of disappointment and frustration to God and tell him that we want the evil to stop: "How long, O Lord?"

It's clear that David wasn't slow to complain to God when he went through a time of turmoil and the fact that his words have found their way into our Bibles gives us permission to do the same.

But entwined with anguish, the prayer also contains hope. There's a conviction that the awful suffering of this world won't go on for ever and it's only God who can bring it to an end.

As Christians we believe that God has set a time limit for wickedness and it's good for us to remember that as we pray. There will be a day of judgement. Through Christ "we are waiting for new heavens and a new earth in which righteousness dwells." (2 Peter 3:13)

The Ups and Downs of Life

(How gravity influences our lives and beliefs)

Following on with how words and ideas change over time, I thought that I would look at the mysterious subject of gravity. We often hear the media refer to 'the gravity of the situation.' I think most of us will interpret this as being serious situation, not that gravity is the cause (misuse by the media). The pull of gravity can often refer to a couple in love. This might imply to the technically minded that one of the couples is exceptionally large. This is not true because any two bodies exert a force of attraction to each other.

The larger the object the greater is the force gravity exerts on lesser bodies.

I would like to start by saying that for all the arrogance in knowing 'all' Gravity still remains a mystery to the science world. We know how gravity manifest itself. We can measure this mysterious force, weakest of all the four major forces. It is gravity which gives an object of any given mass, weight. If you stood on a high cliff and jumped off (very silly) you would, on earth, accelerate towards disaster at 9.8m/second/second. However, if you did the same on the moon you would only accelerate downwards at 1.6 m/sec/sec. Giving you a bit more time to contemplate your foolish action.

This year we had a break in Norfolk and as we dislike motorways, this was an opportunity to convince Linda that we should stop for a comfort break at a National Trust property, OK. little did Linda know that the stop would be 'Woolsthorpe Manor' the birthplace and refuge from the plague of Issac Newton. Here the National Trust have put together artifacts of Newton's life including interactive experiments on his works. Probably the most famous fruit tree in the world is the Woolsthorpe apple tree.

This tree which stands in the garden is a sibling of the tree enshrined in the story of how a falling apple set the wheels in motion for Newton's famous equation, developed in about 1681

$$F = \frac{GM_1M_2}{r^2}$$

Note for gardeners: The apple tree is possibly 4th generation of the original tree and the fruit being the Maid of Kent.

So important was Newton's work that Albert Einstein visited Woolsthorpe Manor. Newton left us with this comment "standing on the shoulder of giants I have been able to see ..." What Newton meant was that his work had only been possible because of the hard work of those who had gone before. The origin of the phrase is thought to go back to the 12thC.

Aristotle believed all objects fell to the centre of the universe therefore the earth must be the centre of the universe. Not a bad idea given that scientific understanding was still eluding man. In the 18thC scientific discovery was the future and under the direction of Nevil Maskelyne, Astronomer Royal, an experiment was set up to use the mass of the Munro Mountain in Perthshire, Schiehallion, to determine the density of the earth. The mass of a large mountain would have a gravitational effect on a massive plumb-bob and thus by extrapolation the density of the earth could be estimated. The figure was within 20% of today's value. Not bad for a weight on a string and a lot of calculations.

This brings me to the story of the Leaning Tower of Pisa. A historian/biographer of Galileo Galilei wrote of his experiments, dropping objects of differing weight from this 56.7m (183ft) 5.5 deg. leaning bell tower. All the objects he dropped appeared to hit the ground at the same time, regardless of their weight. It was the work of these visionaries that set Newton to dig deeper and stand on the shoulder of giants. For the experiment to work, say comparing a feather with a hammer both should be in a vacuum (no air resistance) and fall at the same rate. This was visually confirmed by Commander

Scott of the Apollo 15 mission to the moon. You can watch the actual video footage of the experiment by going to the NASA website and searching for 'Apollo15 Hammer-Feather drop'.

Gravity and the rules for how gravity affects objects is inseparable from the exploration of space. The early astronauts landed in the vast desert regions of the then USSR or in the even larger area of the Pacific Ocean - USA. Today the accuracy by which a space craft can be sent into space and returned is remarkable. Many of you will be familiar with the recent space capsule 'Osiris-Rex.' This vacuum cleaner was sent to interact with the asteroid 'Bennu.' This space capsule was dispatched in 2016 to land on Bennu for 6 seconds whilst it vacuumed up a dust sample and then return to Earth. All this was only possible because of gravity using the pull of the Sun and Earth to guide it back to a narrow area of the Utah desert in 2023.

The last sentence brings me to the next set of ramblings. Why do the astronauts on the ISS experience weightlessness when the gravity on board is approximately the same as that on earth? The reason for this is that the passengers of the ISS are constantly accelerating at the same rate that gravity is acting upon them. If you feel a bit overweight, take your weighing scales to the top of a high building - with a lift. Get in the lift stand on the weighing scales and press the down button. For a few brief moments you will be a little less heavy.

Gravity plays a significant role in plant growth as the growing seed cells are affected by 'positive' and 'negative' Gravitropism. Charles Darwin was one of the first to notice that roots showed positive gravitropism and the stems negative gravitropism. This is essential as the stems/ leaves need sunlight or space to grow and cast seed, whereas the roots need to find nutrients and anchor the plant. To prove that plants do not develop based on temperature and sunlight alone they have been grown in the dark with an ever-changing position and in space. The results show roots and stems are omni-directional in growth confirmed by experiment on the ISS (International Space Station)

Without gravity we would not be what we are. However, a little understanding of gravity has also brought pain and suffering. Ballistics, the study of placing a projectile with accuracy on a target to wreak havoc is now more sophisticated than ever before in man's history.

The weapons of war costing considerable amounts of funding are now in everyday use trying to gain superiority over the opposition. There is nothing new in using gravity to inflict pain and suffering. Once man threw a stone or stick at his neighbour, the curvature that stick took was the effect of gravity and we learnt to use it to great effect.

As Christians and non-Christians, the crucifixion of Christ is an extreme example of how gravity was used to send out a message. 'Do not break the law or oppose the state as you will suffer death by crucifixion.' Your own body weight hanging on pins that have pierced the body until you die - this is suffering in the extreme.

Passing on from the misery of the above. I am glad of gravity, think of what a world would be like with: -

- * No reference points
- * No holding hands
- * No giving a cuddle to comfort a person
- * No proper drinks on a wintry morning

The list goes on and on for we are what we are and the treasures in life are all subject to gravity.

Thanks for putting up with my ramblings,

Peter Hodkinson

Scout World Jamboree, Korea 2023

In 2021, I was successful in being selected to attend the 25th World Scout Jamboree in South Korea.

Through the last two years, I have been fundraising the £4,000 needed to go and this year I was finally able to attend.

Myself and 35 young scouts from East Lancashire, also known as the "East Lancashire Hotpots" flew to South Korea where we spent a few days in Seoul, but unfortunately during this time I became ill and had to be taken to a local hospital where I received two IV drips, an X-ray and a CT scan, all within a few hours! This was an additional site that not everyone could add to their experiences!

North Korea from the DMZ

Two days later, we arrived at the Jamboree campsite in SaeManGeum to join 43,000 other scouts from 100 other countries, where we discovered our campsite had been flooded. We then put our tents up in one of the shade tunnels with another British Scout Group, however shortly after this, a heatwave came and most activities on camp were cancelled due to the high temperatures. The temperature was over 38 degrees Celsius (100.4 Fahrenheit), On the third day, we could pitch our tents out of the shade tunnel on to our campsite, that had by now dried up. However, the same night we discovered that the UK Contingent had decided to withdraw all UK scouts off the campsite due to the conditions on the site - which made the BBC News! Although, two days later the whole camp packed up due to the imminent arrival of Typhoon Khanun, which then turned to a tropical storm. It was fairly similar to a heavy downpour in Blackburn!

We then returned to Seoul where we still did activities which included a speech from Dwayne Fields (who is a British Polar explorer and TV presenter), the Korean War Memorial Museum, North Seoul Tower, the Demilitarised Zone and Seodaemun Prison History Hall. The closing ceremony was then relocated to Seoul football stadium where a K-pop concert was held.

Then after twenty days away from home, we left Korea and came home. The Korean people were very nice and treated us very well, many times, ordinary people would approach us and offer their apologies, even buying us all ice cream!

Whilst the Jamboree didn't turn out as we expected, I still had an amazing experience and I would like to thank everyone who supported us in our fundraising and I have now ordered my "25th World Scout Jamboree SURVIVOR" t-shirt! - Evie Waring

Easy Ways to Help and Support your Church

1) Make your collection a standing order directly to the bank;

We know that things are tough, but the church cannot survive without regular giving, the church needs funds daily even if you only attend once a month. Please consider what you give to church, remember we do not receive any other income than that which we generate from renting the hall and the money people directly give.

2) Gift Aid your giving;

If you Gift Aid your donations, then for every £10 you give the HMRC gives us £2.50 for nothing - it is money you paid in tax returned to the church.

3) Join the 100 Club; - ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTIONS NOW DUE

This monthly draw allows you the opportunity to win £50 each month. It costs £12 to join for the year and if we can get up to 200 numbers sold from the current 121, then we will be able to increase the prizes with a monthly second prize.

4) Church Magazine;

As well as encouraging you to buy a magazine, why not buy an extra one and give it to a friend, neighbour, someone who is lonely etc. If you really cannot afford the extra £1 then let Phil know and we will organise something to allow you to pass on to others about our church.

5) Volunteer;

There are always things which need to be done, how can you help? Please approach us and offer a little time, it doesn't need to be weekly but a couple of hours here or there can always be put to good use.
